

Strengthening your Community

To aid our communities in being more prepared for the future, we invite community members to discover their innate abilities to mobilize themselves and others. After consulting communities in the Upper St John River Valley, we found that there was a demand for organizational skills, such as effective meeting strategies, conflict mediation and leadership.

Workshops and resources offered:

- Facilitation
- Conflict Resolution
- Community Leadership

Through participatory learning sessions, community members can gain from experiences that help them hone the skills they possess for making communities stronger. Empowering potential community leaders and organizations to mobilize and unify around specific goals and interests enables their communities to have more say over their futures. Starting in Fall through Winter of 2009, we will be offering workshops for organizations, community leaders and groups of people eager for successful group interactions.
